What is the name of the person/team you are recognizing?

Emily Burns

What category are you recognizing this person/team for?

Heart of Gratitude

Details on why this person/team is being recognized.

Emily goes above and beyond in all the work. She has many families that are in desperate crisis and Emily goes above and beyond to make sure all their needs are met so that she can then focus on development. I now have a family that is in this same boat and she has gone above and beyond to help me. Any donation I need for the family, clothes, blankets, shoes ect., Emily will bring to me the next day just out of her own home or her own connections. She has helped me with connections at the school district so that I can help the older kids in the home as well.

Emily has such a heart for families the families that are served through RCDC. Every family she connects with really gets to see someone that is going to go above and beyond to make sure they have what they need and they have it now and not later. Not only did she do this for my family but I have seen her bring clothes, books, toys, ect to countless other homes as well. She is always on top of calling in mileage for families with Medicaid, helping with any language barrier to communicate with Doctors, and helping make sure these families have food on their table. She never backs down from any challenge or obstacle that is thrown her way. This particular family has expressed so much gratitude towards RCDC and it's only been a month of being in the home. Emily truly deserves most of the credit as she has helped both me and the family so much!

What is the name of the person/team you are recognizing?

Melissa Dahlke

What category are you recognizing this person/team for?

Heart of Gratitude

Details on why this person/team is being recognized.

Melissa has proven her heart of gratitude for willingly helping others who need a quick assistance. She jumps in to help, and she also is so kindhearted when speaking with her fellow employees. When I was working the other day and needed an extra set of hands, she stopped what she was doing and helped me so we could accomplish the task faster.
